Ice men are rejoicing over the long stretch of cold weather and a big ice harvest. Natural ice harvested from ponds and lakes will help to bridge the long, hot gap of summer and relieve, to a certain degree, the usual summer ice shortage.

But how about yourself, Mr. Consumer, and the health of your family? Will you feel perfectly safe when the iceman drops a piece of ice of questionable content into your refrigerator alongside the food you eat and in the same air space? Most diseases and germs of decay are air-borne. They are carried with air currents from place to place. Effective refrigeration demands a circulation of air in your refrigerator, and good refrigerators are built to that end. That is why ice is oftentimes a dangerous thing, even though not in actual direct contact with the food.

KELVINATOR—the Electric Cold Producer—keeps refrigerators cold, dry and sanitary without ice. Kelvinator is the one satisfactory answer to the annually recurring ice problem of spring and summer. You can have your own refrigerator equipped now with this safeguard and insure yourself permanently of unlimited refrigeration.

Refrigerates Without Ice

Lord Kelvin, for many years a professor at the University of Glasgow, was probably the world's greatest authority on temperatures. It is fitting that the first thoroughly successful device to refrigerate without ice should be named after him — THE KELVINATOR.

Marshall B. Lloyd Is the Master Builder of Baby Carriages

From the very first dawn of history all of the weaving of wickers has been done slowly and laboriously by hand.

From the basket in which Moses was floated among the bulrushes to your Sewing Basket of today there has not been a single change in the method of weaving wickers in all of those SIX THOUSAND YEARS—UNTIL NOW.

But now this Wizard at Invention has patented a new method of weaving and an almost human machine that does it all. A magic Loom that picks and chooses and even shapes as it weaves until a Baby Carriage grows before your very eyes.

A Loom that does in a matter of MINUTES far more perfectly what used to take the fastest
